A ROUND OF TALK.

Chemically Pure.

Boracic acid, arsenic, and acid saylchloride of lime and some formaldehyde.
Strychnine, coal tar and acid muriatic.
All these and many more besides.
They do the meat they sell us.
And they fill us with disease.
They are on the square they tell us.
And say we're hard to please.
Tuberculosis, hollowhorn, and also lumpy jaw.
"Bolt" real and things to make you sick.
Very plain ignoring of the whole inspection law.
But what's the use to register a "kick"?

State meat and spoiled meat and stanches very furious.
"Down" beef and cripples on the block.
Doped meat that's tagged meat in manner very curious.
It's quite enough to cause a horrid shock.
They "fudge" on the inspection law.
And they fill us full of germs.
They're careless in selection.
But they talk in glowing terms Preservatives of acids, and they all all but the squeal:
The people have enough of equal in stock.
Chemists do the business and our positions stick.
And you are but "muckraking", you talk.

—The Commoner.

MISTAKEN.—The local merchants as well as the town housekeepers are complaining this season of the difficulty in laying spring chickens, eggs and other country produce. They say that the farmers and the traders' wives don't bring in such produce to the stores as they formerly did. One of the persons we have heard given for the state of affairs is that the pressure has gotten out among a country people to the effect that they are not allowed to sell produce in town, on account of a new license law. Such a report is entirely erroneous. There has been, and probably ever will be, a law passed that will prevent a man selling the produce of his farm to whom he leases. The town merchants are prepared to pay as much as anybody for country produce, and there is no law against selling to them.

LEMENTS.—Mr. William A.
Clements, of this county, is candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator for this senatorial district composed of the counties of Washington, Marion and Taylor. This Washington county's time to elect a senator and there will be no other candidate from the other counties to contend for the nomination. The election is to be held in November of next year and Mr. Clements says that he is in the race early and to win. Mr. Clements has never before for office before but has always been a worker in his party. We have never heard him express himself on the point but we take it that he is anti-machine man. He is a strong supporter of Senator Joe Blackburn. He has many friends both in this and the other two counties in the district.

GOOD ADVERTISEMENT.—If you were inclined to flow your own horn a little we might all of a few things the NEWS-LEADER has done for Washington county and for Springfield, but we are not inclined. However we believe the NEWS-LEADER has been instrumental recently in giving the county a good advertisement as a good county. In this column of our issue of June 7th we published a few remarks on the good order which prevails in our county as shown by our court records for the past few years. This article was prompted through a desire to speak a word of deserved praise for our county—a kind of habit which we have cultivated. The Louisville Herald of Sunday June 17th, copied our article and made extensive editorial comment in commendation and in a way set Washington county up as a worthy example for other counties to emulate.
Other papers throughout the state have also reproduced the article and thus Washington county has been given a good advertising advertisement as a community of progress and good morals.

Deadly Serpent Bites.
As common in India as are snakes and liver disorders with them. For the latter, however, there is a sure remedy: Electric currents; the great restorative medicine of which S. A. Brown, Fennettsville, S. C., says:
"they restored my wife to perfect health after years of suffering with dyspepsia and a chronically torpid liver." Electric currents cure chills and fever, malaria, biliousness, lame back, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. Sold on guarantee by C.
Haydon, druggist. Price, 50c.

Chinn in a Scrap.
Senator J. P. Chinn and Mr.
B. Brown, from near Tal-age, had a scrap in front of man's stable Tuesday evening at Harrodsburg. Mr. Brown was stated was drinking, and after the Senator about being he had damaged while hunting. Witnesses say that the Senator laughed and was pleasant about the matter, and Brown told him he was no more than any other man, if his name was Jack Chinn. The witnesses say that the Senator replied that he was only a common, everyday man. Then, it is said, Brown called the Senator a very ugly name two or three times, and then it is asserted, the Senator knocked him down and hit him a number of times with an umbrella cutting an ugly gash over Brown's eye. The officers arrived on the scene just after the fracas, but the Senator had started home in his buggy before they came.—News.

Fontaine Ferry.

Fontaine Ferry Park "the park beautiful," has come to be recognized as one of the foremost sights Louisville folks now show their guests when a visit is made to the State metropolis. It is a veritable dreamland of beauty, especially by night, and Louisville can well boast of one of the largest and handsomest family resorts in America. While no doubt many citizens of this community have already paid a visit to this spot, it is something that should not be missed when a trip to Louisville is made.
It is said that over $100,000 was expended in the equipment and beautifying of the place. It is located on the river bank, and is the coolest spot about the city.
At night the park is illuminated by nearly 20,000 electric lights, and presents a scene of great brilliance. Cars passing all the depots either go directly to the park or transfers are given which enable visitors to reach it for a single fare.

Each week brings some new attraction to Fontaine Ferry so that there is always something different to greet the visitor.
Conspicuous among the amusement features are the mammoth summer theatre where high class vaudeville is offered every afternoon and evening of the week.
The programme includes some of the best known performers of the stage, and are always refined and enjoyable. The scenic railway is said to be one of the largest and most beautiful in the United States. A magnificent carrousel, or merry-go-round has been installed this summer and is one of the star attractions of the resort.

thin, scraggly, uneven, rough

The women of this vicinity made a last week to church to the church, which was badly needed. We are justly proud of our Christian women, for with out them church work here would be at a low ebb.

The farmers will wind up har-does things in first class order, the pike will be built to order.

An effort will be made to get some one to take contract for building the entire road.

Miss Mayne B. Merritt has fall term will begin in about two weeks.

J. D. Sutherland received a severe shock from lightning Saturday evening while at W. M.
Crossfield's near Love Ridge church. He and Mr. Crossfield had started to the barn to look at a new buggy, and Mr. Crossfield being a few feet in front, had just entered the barn when a stroke of lightning struck a tree near by, knocking Mr. Sutherland down and completely shaking him up. A girl standing close to the door of the house was slightly shocked. "The tree was near the barn, and taking fire, had to be cut down to save the barn from burning."

There is quite a talk among our Methodist people about having a revival meeting at this place in the near future. An effort will be made to organize a church, as there are quite a number scattered about. We see no reason why they should not succeed. They will probably make an effort to buy the two-third interest in the house here owned by other denominations who have no organization. If this can be done it will be attached to the annual conference so we can have regular preaching. We earnly hope some steps will be taken toward taking better care of the church property. We believe that the best way is for some denomination to organize, purchase the property and care for it as they see fit. The way it is at present the house is going down at a rapid rate. May some action be taken by some denomination without delay.

Hardesly Schoolhouse

unable to stop the hand car and

It seems a miracle how the men escaped with their lives.—Har-

Dead at Ninety-four.

Mrs. Phoebe McNeill died at her home in Danville this week in her ninety-fourth year. She was born in New Brunswick, N.
J., the daughter of old H. I.
Jennings, the State's first settler. She was baptized in the Dutch Reform church by Rev. John H.
Livingston, then president of Queen's College of New Brunswick. The grandfather of Mrs.
McNeill was Major Verbruy, a quicker of the Continental army under Washington. After the death of her parents she was taken into the family of her uncle, Lawrence DeMott, who emigrated to Kentucky in 1816, locating on the place now known as Cove Spring. She became a member of the Methodist church at Danville under the pastorate of Rev.
William Holman in 1833 and was the oldest communicant at the time of her death, having been a member for seventy-three years.
This church then used the old cathouse as a place of worship,

Saturday morning as John Commiss and Sam Watts, of Perryville, were on their way to Harrodsburg in a buggy they met an automobile three miles from this place. Their horse took fright, overturned the buggy and both men were dragged one hundred yards. Mr. Com-miss' arm was broken in two places, and he was seriously bruised about the face and limbs, while Mr. Watts escaped with slight bruises. The two men came to this place and Dr.
Hosell dressed their wounds.
The auto man never stopped, but went spinning on toward Perryville. The same morning on the Lexington pike Joe Craia was driving in his spring wagon and met an automobile. His horse ran off, threw him out and badly damaged the wagon. Mr. Craia is a cripple and the auto people believing that his condition was due to the accident, put him in the machine and hurried him to Dr. Price's office, who examined him and pronounced him uninjured. The strangers gave Mr.
Craia $20, but he did not believe it enough and consulted Atter-ney Warren Allen, but the auto men were permitted to go their way without "putting up" any more of their wealth. It is believed the same auto caused both misadventures.—Harrodsburg Herald.

First Snake Story.

Jephtha Britton had the worst sore of his life Saturday afternoon. He was squirrel hunting in the Matt Curry woodland and was seated at the foot of a large oak, his eyes riveted on a squirrel in another tree, waiting for an opportunity to fire. He felt something soft touch his hand three or four times, but was so intent upon watching the game that he paid no attention to it.
Getting a good view of the squirrel he was raising his rifle, when his hand struck something and he looked around and to his horror it proved to be an immense snake. It had come partly out of a hole on the opposite side of the tree and was "peeling off him" while he had his vision riveted on the other tree. Mr. Britton says it nearly frightened the life out of him, but he rolled away and then got on his feet and shot the snake through the head. It measured a foot more than twice the length of the gun, which was about three feet long. His snake's reptile was black on the back, yellow on the sides and the ugliest looking head he ever saw on a snake. He lost all interest in hunting, and left the woods, fearing that he might meet the dead snake's mate.—

Close Call.

The action crowd between this city and Burgin in charge of Mr.
Perkins, had a very narrow escape Tuesday afternoon a short distance north of the depot here.
The crew were coming into the city on the hand car, and it is said that they had mistaken the time of the arrival of the fast St.
Louis express, thinking it was 6:02, instead of 5:02 o'clock, and the train rounded the curve and was upon them before they discovered its approach. They were

remove it from the track in time to save it and all of them jumped for their lives. There were six men on the car and all of them were badly bruised. The car

Will Buy Them Out.
A movement is on foot, and it is claimed will be successful, to purchase the saloons of Harrodsburg and publicly destroy them. The local option element in Mercer county seems to be worked up as never before, and this scheme, which was started by Judge Roach, Col. Ed Gaither and several other prominent business men, will very likely go through. The saloon men have been asked to place a price on their fixtures and supplies now on hand, and it is thought they will accept the proposition. If the price is accepted by the anti-saloon people a shaft will be erected in the city to commemorate the event—Danville Advocate.
